

93 Signoffs To Punch Up Your Emails

Email closes are a super simple way to show your personality. They're the last thing your reader sees, so I especially like to throw a little somethin' somethin' here to leave 'em with a smile. A little business in front, party in back action.

Now, admittedly some of these are less-than-professional. I'm going to trust you'll know what's best for work and what to keep between friends. But in case you don't, well, just email me.

This starter list ranges from silly and cute to downright ridiculous. And I threw in a few movie quotes & song lyrics because e'rybody loves nostalgia. It's one of the easiest ways to make a connection with your reader. "What? You love Mambo No. 5? I love Mambo No. 5! Yaaaas, let's do business together."

That's an easy win, folks. We all love Mambo No. 5.

Have fun with this. Go nuts. Use what you like. Skip what you don't. Personalize it & steal with reckless abandon. The idea here is just to get you thinking. But let's not do anything crazy just yet. Leave that to the professionals. (That's me. I'm the professionals.)

A little bit of Monica in my life,

Justin Blackman(← look, it's funny cuz it's comic sans!)

P.S. Can we agree that even the stinkers on this list are at least a better close than Warm Regards?
